Kozminski University is a tertiary education institution offering a broad range of business-oriented programmes (management, finance and economics, law), considered the best business school in Central and Eastern Europe by the Financial Times. KU is also the leader of Perspektywy's ranking of Polish economic universities, ranking 1st among non-public higher education institutions for many years. KU is also a holder of three most important international accreditations – the so-called "triple crown": EQUIS, AMBA, and AACSB, held by only 6 per cent of business schools in the world, including universities like Yale and Harvard University. KU is the first and only higher education institution in Poland so far to have adopted UN's sustainable development goals.
